Norwich, Saturday, Jan. 31, 1920

THE WEATHER

High pressure prevails generally with the west-northwest of Lake Superior and as a result the weather was fair except in the north portions of New York and New England, where there were light snows. In New England temperatures changed but little.

The weather will be fair Saturday and Sunday east of the Mississippi river.

It will be colder Saturday from the Ohio valley and lower lake region eastward.

Storm warnings are displayed on the Atlantic coast from Sandy Hook, N. J., to Provincetown, Mass.

Winds off the Atlantic coast: North of Sandy Hook: strong north-west to north winds, fair, cooler.

Sandy Hook to Hatteras: fresh north-west to north winds except strong off New Jersey coast; fair, cooler.

Forecast

Southern New England: Fair, cold or Saturday with fresh to strong north-west to north winds; Sunday fair.

GREENEVILLE

The senior class of the Greenville Congregational church held a surprise party for Richard Seed at his home, 295 Central avenue. The young people brought lunches with them and a table was set in the dining room. Entertainment was provided by his mother and the group played games and danced during the evening.

Mrs. Michael Raymond of Fourth street is confined to her home with sickness.

Many of the local young people left by bus Friday evening to attend the funeral of the late Mr. J. W. Smith.

George Maloney of Prospect street was able to be about Friday after a short illness.

H. Turner Upton was at his home Tuesday. He is still with the United States Shipping Board and is with the American line at second assistant engineer on the boat Saluda. His last trip across was to Avonmouth, England.

The funeral of Martin J. Carroll took place from his home, 300 Central avenue, Friday morning at 8.30 o'clock. A requiem high mass was held in St. Mary's church at 3 o'clock.

Rev. William H. Kennedy officiating. Henry La Fontaine presided at the organ and Mrs. T. Donovan sang during the mass. The bearers were William Carey, Joseph Nolan, Thomas Deane, Robert Swanson, William Harrington and Edward McDade.

Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery in the family plot. Rev. Kennedy read a committal service at the grave. Mrs. S. Burke was in charge of the funeral arrangements.

TAFTVILLE

On Friday fewer cases of influenza were reported to Health Officer Dr. George Thompson than on the three preceding days, but this is no indication that the epidemic is waning as it is possible there will be a fresh outbreak today. A ban has been put on all cases of influenza in the village and those who develop colds or in any way show symptoms of the disease, The Ponceville Mill company is co-operating with the health officer and has engaged Miss Grace Greenwood, a registered nurse and Red Cross overseas nurse, to assist in caring for the people in the village who are stricken and also to take charge of the school children. Miss Jessie McMillan, who is the regular factory nurse, is also engaged in taking care of the people in the village, giving as much of her time as possible to the epidemic where it is most needed. There is report that should the epidemic become extremely serious the Ponceville company will establish an infirmary or temporary hospital ward for the most serious cases. The number of cases of influenza in town now is about 20.

Local people are fast becoming disgusted with the bus service between this place and Norwich, as when the bus service is most needed there are no buses to be seen. On Thursday the bus appeared in town during the day, although one had been engaged to carry the school children. Apparently the buses, which claim they run for the public, are running simply in opposition to the trolleys, as when the trolleys run there are no buses and when there are no trolleys there is the same scarcity of buses.

It was reported that in the village that during Friday morning about 18 cases of influenza were reported.

IN NORWICH FIFTY YEARS AGO

A wave of incendiary fires and attempted burglaries swept over Norwich fifty years ago this week. And in each case the culprits escaped without detection. The attempted burglaries were credited to prowling tramps. Then thieves were also out in force and roasts were robbed in broad daylight. Increased fire insurance rates were the result of the cause of considerable complaint among tenants of the extension of landlords. Following are a few interesting events chronicled in The Bulletin during the last week in January, 1870:

Monday, Jan. 24, 1870: Shortly after seven o'clock on Saturday evening, fire was discovered in the wooden building on the corner of Chestnut and Willow streets, owned by Barnes & Co. and occupied by N. S. Gilbert as a furniture factory. The alarm was at once given and the fire department responded promptly, but before a stream could be brought to bear upon the building, the room in which the fire began, was in a light blaze. The building was not greatly damaged, the damage being mostly to the furniture and other light materials.

The barn burners, whoever they may be, better stop their fun and leave town. There are several individuals besides those wearing the corporation blue who are anxious to interview them.

At the meeting of Broadway church, last evening, an address of great interest was made by R. H. Gladding, formerly of this city, who has recently been engaged in teaching the freedmen in Georgia. The facts given in regard to the state of feeling in that section were calculated to greatly stimulate increased exertion in behalf of the societies whose chief work now lies among the freedmen.

Tuesday, Jan. 25, 1870: There is considerable complaint among tenants of the extension of landlords, who, in many cases are adding materially to the rents. There seems to be a very slight warrant indeed for such action. The prices of all necessities of life, are, to a considerable extent, "inflated" in sympathy with the appreciation of our national currency.

The members of the Wauson Hook and Ladder company gave a masquerade dancing party at Franklin hall last evening. The hall was crowded with guests and the evening was spent in the most enjoyable manner.

Wednesday, Jan. 26, 1870: The dark road on the Preston side of the Shetucket offers a temptation to the vicious who are prone to fall. On Saturday night a young lady of this city was assaulted on this road, but her assailant, who had caused her assailants to disperse, fled. Others report that there is a gang of rowdies infesting the road.

Thursday, Jan. 27, 1870: The children of the sixth, seventh and eighth grades of the Wauson Hook grammar school attended a special performance of Longfellow's Evangeline at one of the Norwich playhouses on Thursday afternoon.

The children of the chain which had been lost from a machine near the Penonah mill gate on Friday afternoon was run over by the trolley and later picked up by one of the crew of the car and taken to the Greenville carhouse.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hood of Norwich, who were married Wednesday, January 26, 1870, celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding on Wednesday evening.

Saturday, Jan. 28, 1870: About 5 o'clock yesterday morning the son of E. W. Yerrington, the well known music dealer, was awakened by a shadow passing over his face, and opening his eyes saw a man peering into the window of his sleeping room.

Yerrington lay for a few minutes watching them and then quietly slipped out of bed, to raise his father, who arose and lit the gas. This probably frightened the prowlers, for upon his return to the room, no trace of them could be found.

The ladies of the East Main Street Methodist congregation will hold their annual fair and festival at Breese hall on Tuesday and Wednesday nights of next week.

The wild shrub known as the "pussy cat willow" is a native of this city. The Japan quince in some of our gardens have begun to open their blossoms. Green buds nearly an inch long have pushed out from among the magnolias. But the biggest weather story we have heard yet is this: George Yerrington, the well known gardener, two quarts of new potatoes, as large as cornucopia, packed. They have grown from some old potatoes, which he threw away last fall and buried up.

The man with one idea is called a crank, but lots of men can plead not guilty.

How to Banish Piles

Thousands bless Dr. Leonard's the Physicians Who Discovered a Common Sense Remedy.

If you think that the surgeon's knife is the only method of escape from the piles, you are mistaken. You have heard of the new treatment known as Dr. Leonard's HEM-ROID.

The doctor's treatment is internal. By experimenting for years he discovered the exact cause of piles and then went further and compounded a remedy that would remove the cause.

Dr. Leonard wants every sufferer to benefit by his discovery and so that there will be no doubting or delay, he has sent to Mr. Leonard's HEM-ROID today.
